

QUO VADIS EUROPE?

The purpose of the project is to learn the opinions of European citizens concerning the future of European Union. We want to conduct a survey among the citizens of 4 European countries to know their opinions in essential areas such as how they see the future of Europe, what can be done to improve its functioning.

The duration of the project is 14 months.

Within the project activities we plan the following actions:

First we plan to think of the questions that we want the members of local communities to ask. To create such list of question we plan that in each partner country there will be a discussion during which the partners will work out the sample questions worth asking the local people. On this basis we will work out together one questionnaire that will be conducted in each country. (2 months)

The next step is to conduct a survey- we plan to ask 25 volunteers to talk to people to gather information, either in written, filmed or recorded form. (500 responders from each country, at different background/ age) (2 months)

The research data will be analyzed in each country and the last version with the suggestions and conclusions will be translated into English and sent to each partner. (4 months)

Each partner will learn about others' findings and these will lead to the discussion during the conference organized in Poland. The conference debate will lead to working out the conclusions based on the prior analysis/ discussions. (1 month)

Those conclusions will result in publishing a book, which will be called the European Manifesto, in which we will include both conclusions and suggestions from European citizens concerning the future of EU- translated into English and partners' languages. (2 months)

The last stage of the project will concentrate on dissemination of the project findings/ results (publications/ films/ results of the survey/ conclusions from our discussions) via project website, meetings with people who are interested in European issues, presenting the results to organisations dealing with social issues (3 months).
